SLOVAKIA

To the discovery of a new culture

FOOD

Slovaks often eat (because they can eat during clases) chocolate wafers, fried and potato-based specialties, lots of cinnamon rolls...

CULTURE

Slovakian culture is very rich in food, dances and celebrations. They are especially generous and caring.

SCHOOL

We spent the week at the Jana Adama Raymana secondary school in Presov. Classes start at 8am and finish at 2pm, and we took common subjects such as physics, Slovakian, art and culture, etc. We noticed that the pupils are very independant and have a lot of freedom, and that the teachers trust them.

ECOLOGY

They carry out lots of projects, such as taking action for the planet because ecology is a subject close to their hearts. They also have plants in the very classrooms, a small garden and recycling with three trash cans per room.

PREŠOV

We were in Slovakia's third-largest city, where our high school was located, and slept for the most part in the small villages around.

KOŠICE

We also went to another town, the second largest in Slovakia, called Kosice. We had to travel by train for about 40 minutes. It's built in the same way as Presov, around a central avenue, with shops and bars.
